

This is the day

Psalm 118:22-26

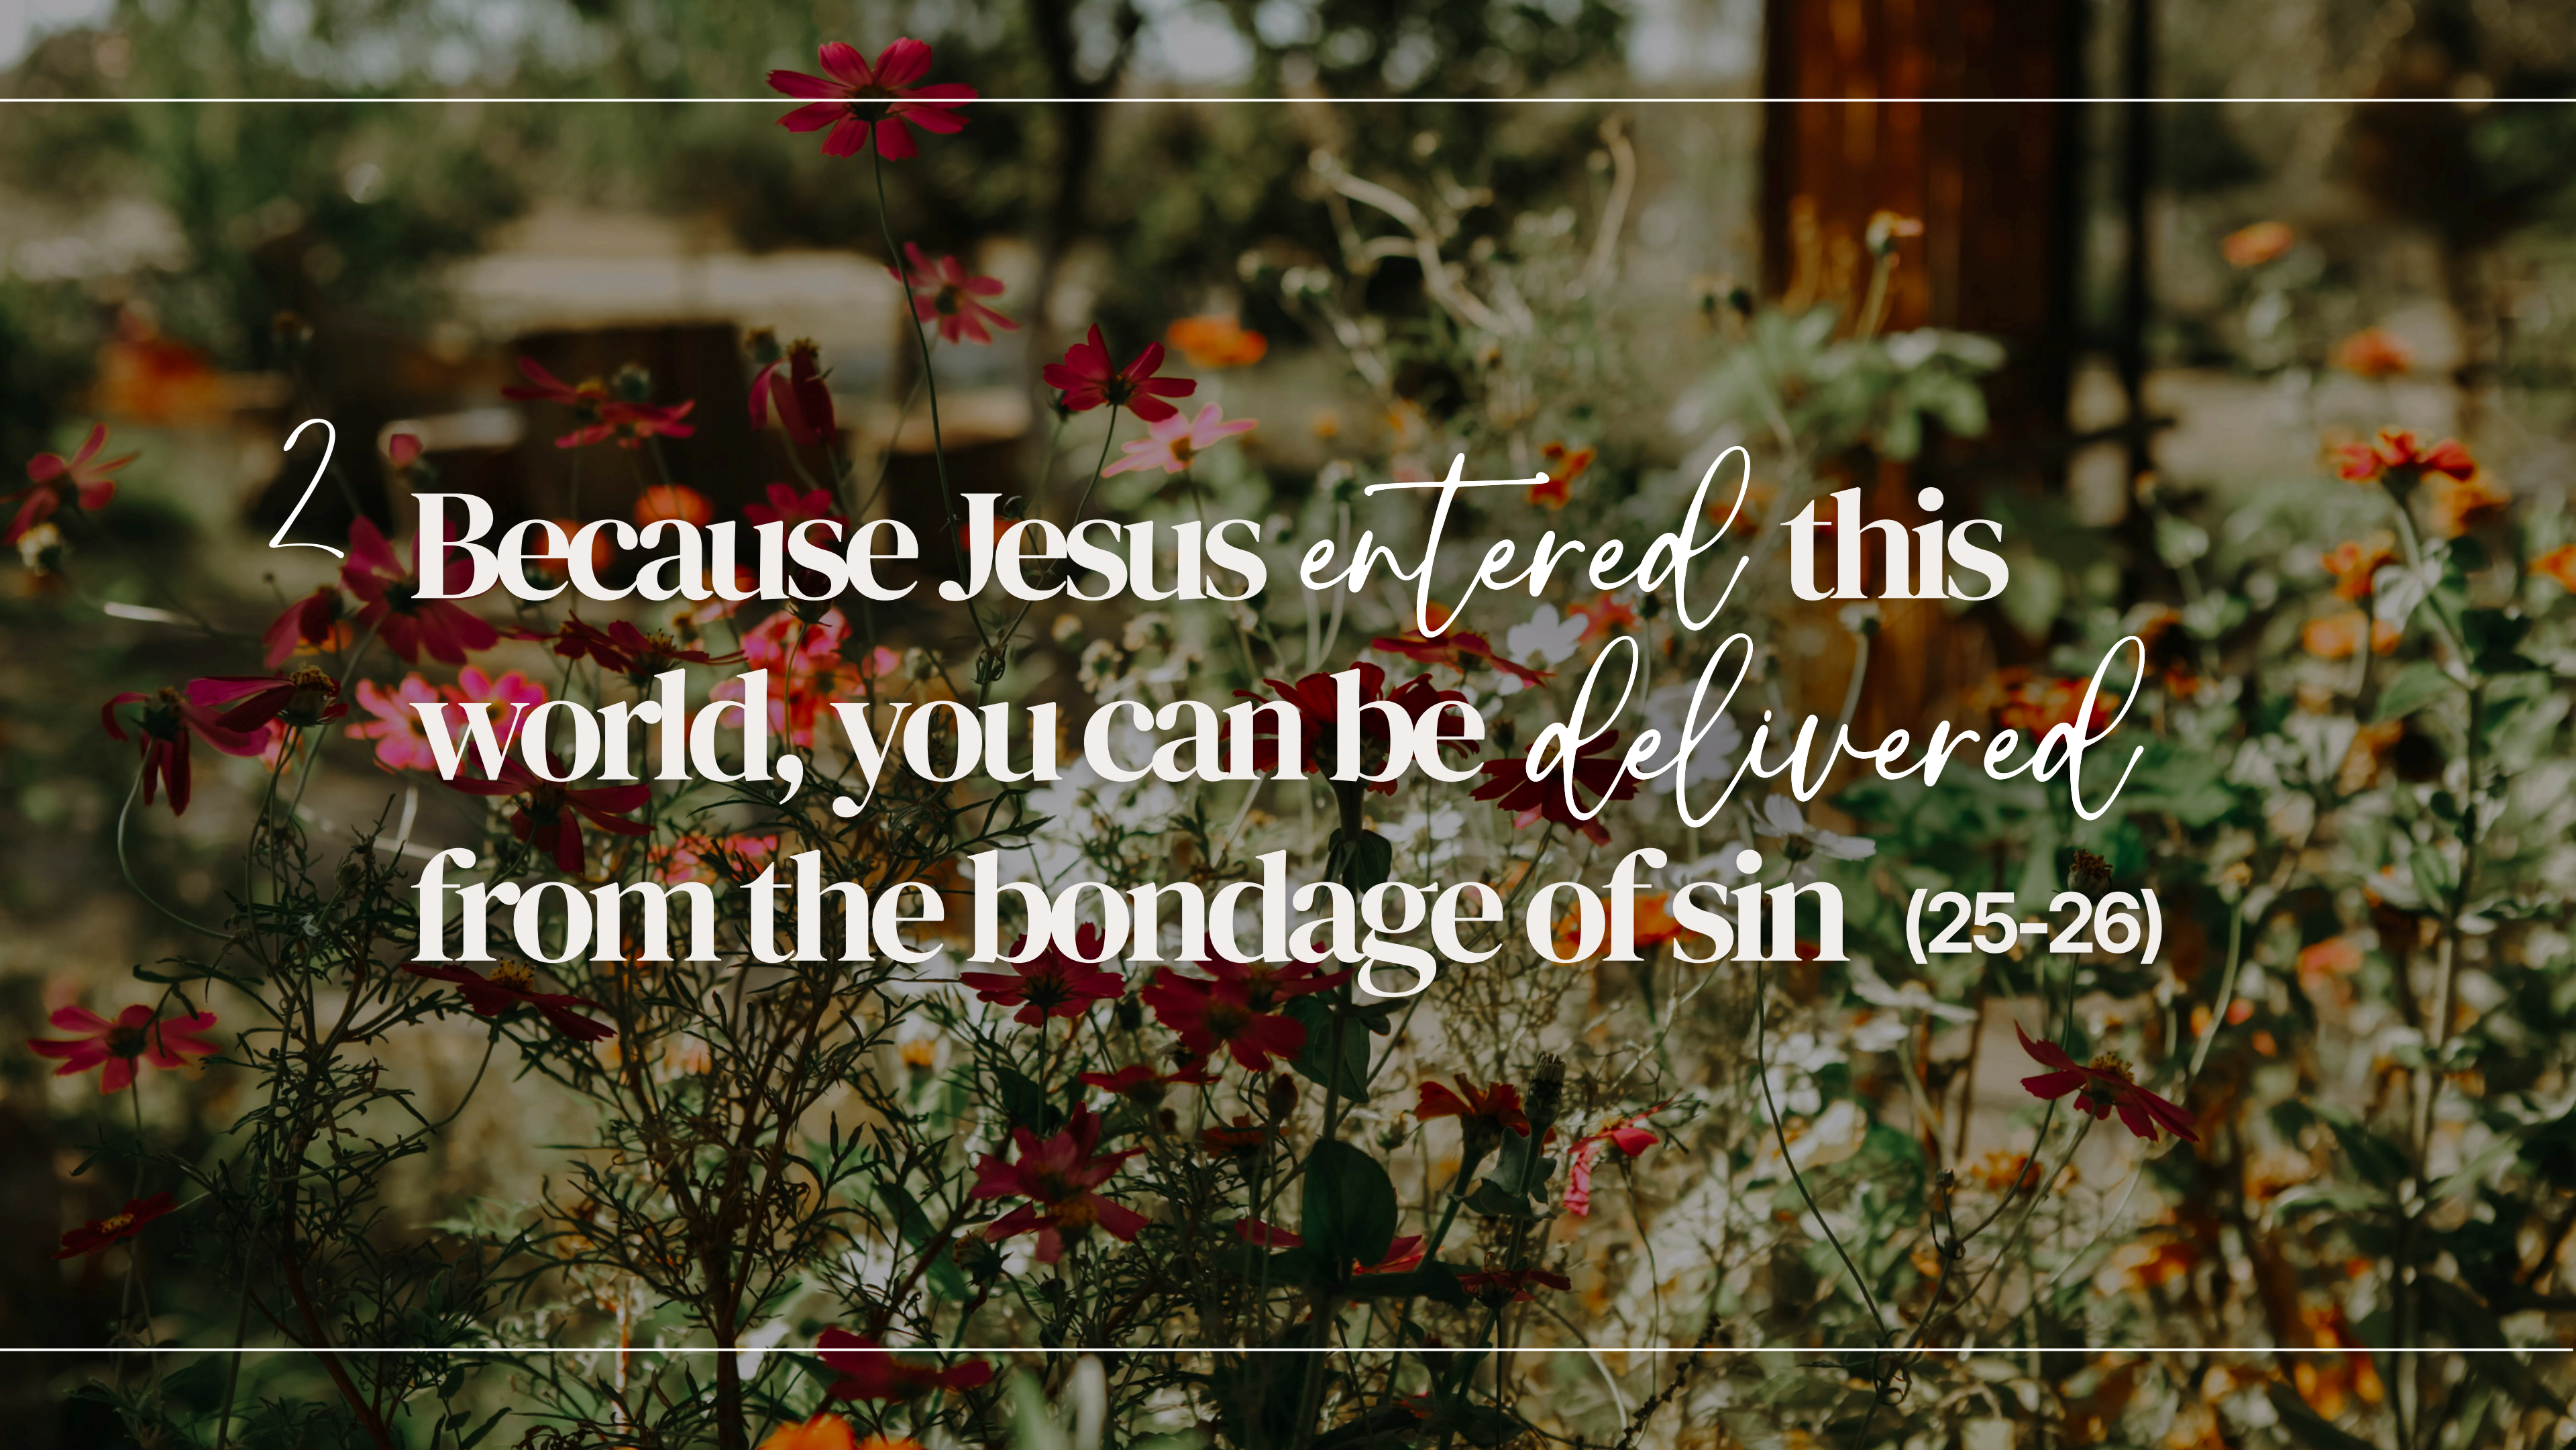

Jesus

is the reason you can have joy today

↑ Because Jesus was rejected
by men, you can be accepted
into the household God (22-23)

2 Because Jesus entered this world, you can be delivered from the bondage of sin (25-26)

points
to ponder

Jesus is the foundation
of true and lasting joy.

points
to ponder

The work of Jesus gives each day significance.

2

points
to ponder

As Christians, we long for the second coming of Jesus.

points
to ponder

God's goodness deserves
our eternal gratitude.

happy
Easter

he is risen

“This is the Day”

Psalm 118:22-26 – Pastor Scott Gnuse

MAIN POINT: Jesus is the reason you can have joy today.

1. Because Jesus was _____ by men, you can be _____ into the household God (22-23)

2. Because Jesus _____ this world, you can be _____ from the bondage of sin (25-26)

Points to Ponder

○

○

○

○

Reflection Questions

1. How does understanding “this is the day” (v.24) as referring to the day of Jesus’ death and resurrection influence the way you live each day?
2. What is the difference between joy and happiness? How does faith in Jesus allow you to have joy in all circumstances?
3. In what sense is Jesus a cornerstone? How did God the Father show His acceptance of Jesus even when Jesus was rejected by men?
4. Why should we look forward to the second coming of Jesus? How is our eternal joy tied to this promise?
5. How does Psalm 118 demonstrate the goodness of God? In what way(s) does this provoke greater joy and thanksgiving in your heart today?